HE - Diary of a 49'er

FROM THE BOOK EDITED BY C. L. CANFIELD

UNE 16, 1850.—Worked but three days last Had the cholera morbus pretty bad but some ...a ginger fetched me around all right. Took out ...o ounces. Henry North wrote me a letter from ...rancisco. He was broke and wanted enough ... to come here. Sent him fifty dollars. I'll be ... see him. Got a long letter from Dad. He says

MR. BOLTON DROPS A BRICK

By Bernice Smalley

Mr. Charles C. Bolton Laid aside his volume of Shakespeare and glanced up at the ormulu clock. In a couple of hours he'd be leaving on one of his periodical out-of-town business trips. Plenty of time in which to dress, pack his bag, dine and catch his train. He got out his fine leather gladstone and started to pack.

Mr. Bolton was slight and delicate of build. Always immaculately groomed, he wore his elegently tailored clothes with an air of quiet distinction. His handsomely appointed apartment indicated a gentleman of fastidious tastes; the well-thumbed, leather-bound classics in the tall, glass-doored oak bookcases bespoke a person of exceptional crudition. Mr. Bolton might easily have cut quite a figure in the social and intellictual life of San Francisco's seventies and early eighties.

But his tastes were simple. Perhaps the hint of fragility in his slim elegance was the answer. A bit of a hermit, he acquired acquaintances rather than friends. Reading and the theatre appeared to be his chief enjoyments.

Sometimes he amused himself composing rhymes. Humorous little jingles destined for the eye of only a few favored persons. Mr. Bolton was a modest gentleman.

His bag was packed now, except for his linen duster. An in-

Historical Society Notes

The next meeting of the Nevada County Historical Society is scheduled to be held in the Hennessy School Auditorium, Dec. 8th at 8:00 P.M. Chairman Eugene R. Ingalls is planning a Centennial Rally and members, friends and Service Clubs are cordially invited to attend. Constructive suggestions for Nevada County's participation in the four year centennial celebration beginning next year, will be welcomed. Dr. Rockwell Hunt, author and professor of history at the College of the Pacific will be the guest speaker. Dr. Hunt will tell of preparations being made throughout the state for the Centennial celebration, and his ideas and his suggestions are eagerly awaited by the Nevada County group.

The Nevada County Historical Society, in a hands across the county movement, is assisting Earl Covey, California Centennial Commissioner, and various organizations in celebrating the one hundredth anniversary of the discovery of gold in California, by sponsoring a "Gold Discovery Fiesta" in the Veteran's Memorial Building, Jan. 24th.

Earl Covey will head the Fiesta and will be assisted by Robert Paine, Master of Ceremonies; Robert Kohler, Dance Chairman; Grace Raymond, Dorothy Dyke, John Nettell, Theodore Mathieson, program; Swen Skore, Elmer Stevens, historical display; Mrs. Vere Hansen, Brita Berryman, Fiesta Booths; Elsie Peard, Elza Kilroy, Advance ticket sales; and William Horan, advertising and publicity.

Public minded citizens are being encouraged to prepare a 49er costume for the occasion. All profits will go to the museums of Grass Valley and Nevada City.

Elmer Stevens, Museum chairman has announced an ambitious museum program. Because of the size and geographical divisions of Nevada County, the vast amount of colorful history enacted here, four of the county's

BEAR HUNTING

SACRAMENTO: So you want to go bear hunting?

Before joining the handful of hardy hunters that will match their skill and guns this year against some of California's 20,000 bear, the division of fish and game has some timely advice.

When the current bear hunting season closes December 31, there will be several less hunters around to enjoy New Year's or a tasty bear steak—for a number of reasons. So listen carefully to the words of Joe S. Hunter, chief of the division's bureau of game conservation, and a "bar" hunter of long standing.

Joe can remember the time when nearly as many people were killed or injured by bear as vice versa. Those were the days of the legendary Grizzly, whose unsociable personality caused him to be wiped off the California map by the early 1920's. Some of these critters have been weighed in at 2000 pounds—one ton of pure cussedness, according to Chief Hunter.

VICTORY MEDALS

General distribution of the Victory Medal, awarded to all World War II veterans, will begin in August 1st, according to the war department.

RESERVE A.A.F.

Only one-third of the 28,630 reserve officers, who enrolled for part-time training in the Army Air Forces, are receiving such training. The AAF declares that reduced funds are limiting teaching staffs and other training facilities.

INDUCEMENTS

Three inducements to speed up the rate of re-enlistments in the navy include re-enlisment leave, travel pay, mustering-out pay and other benefits immediately after they agree to re-enlist, according to the navy department. Men may take advantage of the offer as long as six months in advance of the expiration of their enlistment period.

GOOD IN PLUG CLEANING

Cleaning the spark plugs is a task to which the car owner occasionally sets himself, and to good effect, states the service department of National Automobile Club. The inside of the plug core usually is scraped out in the process. A better method of cleaning is to soak the core in a solution of 60 per cent household ammonia and 40 per cent water. This will dissolve the carbon and assure a clean firing plug.

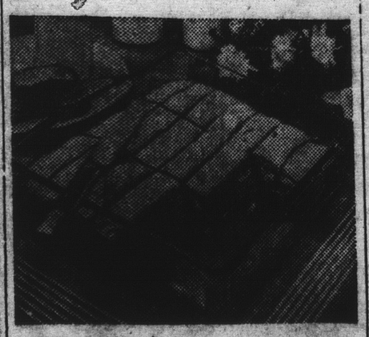
Plan on Baking Holiday Sweets Well in Advance



Peanut bars are easy to make and easy to serve. They are ideal for snack time for the youngsters, as well as family get-togethers during the holidays.

It won't be long now before the holidays are with us, and that means the children will be home with their constant demands on the cookie jar. It means, too there will be plenty of entertaining, perhaps not of the elaborate variety, but evenings in front of the cozy warmth of the fireplace, when there should be a simple cookie or cake to serve.

Wise cooks will plan to do a lot of their holiday baking early. Some of the cookies and confections can be made early, and they will taste so much the better for it. Then, too, most women like to make such things as puddings and fruit cakes before the holidays so as to relieve the strain on the kitchen later on.

If you're making fruit cake or pudding, chop the fruits the day before and prepare your molds. Then the making of the recipe will be easy and there is less chance for error.

English Plum Pudding.
½ pound butter
1 pound light brown sugar
5 eggs
1 pint milk
1 pound fine bread crumbs
1 glass grape juice
1½ pounds raisins, floured
2 pounds currants
½ pound citron
1 ground nutmeg

Cream the butter and sugar, add beaten eggs, milk, bread crumbs, grape juice, raisins, currants, finely sliced citron and spice. Steam in a buttered mold for five hours.

Have you ever made your fruit cake in little fluted paper cases for individual servings? It's really very easy and saves on baking time.

Small Fruit Cakes (Dark).
1½ cups butter
2 cups dark brown sugar
8 eggs, beaten light
3½ cups flour
1 teaspoon each of cloves, allspice and cinnamon
1½ pounds raisins
1½ pounds currants
½ pound citron, sliced thin
½ cup melted grape or currant jelly

Cream butter, add sugar and cream until light. Beat the eggs until frothy and add to the butter and sugar. Sift the flour and spices over the cut up raisins, currants and citron and mix well. Beat into the other mixture; add the melted jelly. Fill small paper cases and bake in a slow oven for about 30 minutes.

Small Fruit Cakes (Light).
¾ pound butter
1 pound sugar
12 eggs
1 pound pound flour
1 to 1½ pounds grated coconut
1 pound citron, sliced fine
1 pound blanched, sliced almonds
1 pound raisins, cut fine
1 pound candied pineapple, sliced fine
¼ pound candied cherries, sliced fine
½ cup orange juice
½ teaspoon mace

Proceed as in recipe above.

Both children and adults like peanuts, and there's nothing better or easier than to include them in a bar type of cookie made delicious with brown sugar.

Peanut Bars.
(Makes 21 bars)
½ cup shortening
1 cup brown sugar
2 eggs
1½ cups sifted flour
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ cup light cream
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup peanuts
2 teaspoons confectioners' sugar

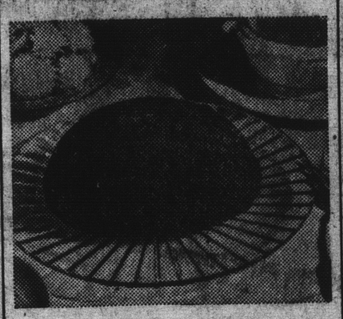
Cream shortening until fluffy. Gradually add brown sugar. Thoroughly beat in eggs. Sift flour, salt and baking powder together and add to shortening mixture alternately with cream. Stir in vanilla and peanuts. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) in a square glass cake dish for 30 minutes. Remove from the oven and sprinkle the top with confectioners' sugar.

Crumb Cake.
2 cups flour
1½ cups sugar
2 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup butter or margarine
2 eggs, well beaten
½ cup milk
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ cup nuts, chopped

Sift dry ingredients together. Cut in butter. Reserve one cup of mixture. To remaining mixture add combined eggs and milk. Beat well. Pour into greased pan about 7 by 11 inches. Cover top with reserved mixture. Sprinkle with cinnamon and nuts. Bake in a moderate oven, 375 degrees, for 35 minutes.

Brazil Nut and Fruit Sweets.
(Makes 36 balls)
¾ cup brazil nuts
½ cup raisins
½ cup apricots
½ cup pitted dates
¼ cup coconut

Put enough of the brazil nuts through food chopper to measure ½ cup; reserve to roll mixture in. Put remaining nuts through chopper with raisins, apricots, dates and coconut. Mix until well blended. Form into one inch balls. Roll in remaining ½ cup of nuts.



Do your holiday baking early by planning to make plum pudding now. Steam it in a mold and then store it in a tightly covered tin until ready to use.

Almond Crispa.
½ cup butter
1 cup light brown sugar
1 well-beaten egg
1 cup flour
¼ teaspoon cream of tartar
½ cup blanched, coarsely chopped almonds

Cream the butter and sugar until light. Add egg. Sift together the dry ingredients. Into this mix the nuts. Beat all together. Drop from the end of a spoon onto a greased baking sheet and bake in a slow oven (325 degrees) to a light brown.

Vanilla Wafers.
½ cup butter
½ cup sugar
Yolks of 2 eggs
1 cup flour
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ teaspoon salt

Cream butter and sugar together. Add egg yolks and cream again. Gradually stir in the sifted flour, vanilla and salt. Drop from the end of a spoon onto a greased pan in small rounds, about an inch apart, and bake in a moderate (350 degree) oven until delicately browned.

Flavor Tricks Improve Simple Dishes

Scramble eggs with some tomato soup from a can. It's different and very delicious.

When you make that chocolate pudding, the children will like it even more if you pour a little of the pudding in the cup, add a layer of crushed peppermint candy, a layer of pudding, a candy layer and then more pudding.

Making cheese souffle? Add glamour by baking it in par-boiled halves of green pepper.

When you cream salmon, don't forget that a speck of curry does wonderful things to it.

Bay leaf and a bit of cloves added to tongue while it cooks are flavor tips you don't want to overlook.

Ever tried luscious devil's food cake with whipped cream flavored with crushed peppermint candy? Bake in a loaf or square pan and top with the cream. Saves time

NEW PISTON RINGS

Will I save enough oil to justify the investment in new piston rings?

This question is one that car owners constantly are asking of service men, declares the Service Department of National Automobile Club. The answer is difficult. It depends upon how much oil is being consumed as a result of the present piston rings' defects, how long one intends to drive the car after the new rings are installed and numerous other considerations. But, taking into consideration not merely the saving of oil but the improved gasoline economy and the restoration of the car's power and pep, the investment usually is an extremely profitable one.

TIRES AND SKIDDING

Another very good reason for keeping your tires inflated to the recommended pressure, according to the National Automobile Club is that both under-inflation and over-inflation tend to increase the chance of skidding. Quite a bit of research has been done on this subject.

The Diary of a 49'er

mother is grieving about me being so far away and is afraid I will fall into temptation.

She knows from what she sees in the papers that California must be an awful wicked place. Dad tells her that I come from old Connecticut stock and he isn't afraid of his boy not coming out all right. Wonder what he'd say if he knew about my losing money in a game of chance.

I hear that Anson James and his partner took out fourteen hundred dollars on Brush Creek last week. That beats Rock Creek but Brush is all taken up. Anderson is after me to go river mining with him. He is getting up a company of ten men; has seven now and they will put up two hundred and fifty dollars apiece for capital. They want that for lumber, which costs one hundred dollars a thousand feet for wing dams and a flume, whatever that means. If my claim gives out before August, may go with them. Saw two deer on the hill back of the cabin and Anderson says a grizzly was killed up at the head of the creek last week. There are thousands of wild pigeons in the woods but they are not fit to eat. The acorns they feed on make their flesh taste bitter.

JUNE 23, 1850—Have not heard from Henry North. He ought to have been here last week. I have been fairly homesick all week, working in the claim alone, and am so dead tired when night comes that it's a task to cook supper, although there isn't much to cook. There is always a pot of cold beans and I fry a piece of pork for the grease to sop my bread in and make a cup of tea. I roll up in the blankets and go to bed at eight o'clock and try to go to sleep to keep from thinking, although I can't always do it. Thoughts of home come into my head. There is a sort of dog here that the greasers call a coyote and you would swear when night comes on that there were a thousand of them yelping in the hills and around the cabin. Sometimes I get up and go outdoors, out under the stars and wonder what Hetty is doing and whether she will wait. If she saw me snifling and the tears rolling down my cheeks she would think I wasn't much of a man. I wish Henry North would come. Rich diggings have been found on Kanaka Creek and a lot of miners have gone over to take up claims. Took out a little over five ounces for the week.

Many of the uranium mine... are brightly colored, either ... low or green, and even black...

JUST WONDERIN'

I Wonder if within its head
There is a brain
And in that brain a thought,
By which in its goings and its comings back
A butterfly is taught.

One day last week, I heard a pleasant radio voice, telling the story of the migratory butterflies. For many years the homing swallows of San Juan Capistrano have attracted the attention of scientists and laymen alike and just recently, the swallows of San Juan have received a modicum of their dues; but, the story of homing butterflies is just beginning to be appreciated.

The pleasant radio voice gave an eye witness account of the arrival of the monarch butterflies in Pacific Grove; this year as usual, they made their appearance in that resort about the sixth of November and as usual they settled upon a particular tree which has been winter quarters for the little creatures for many years. They come and go with the same degree of regularity ascribed to the homing swallows of Capistrano and spend the winter months resting in their chosen trees or playing about the gardens, returning to their native habitat sometime during the months of March and April.

Now, there were a few omissions in that pleasing story of the butterfly migration; the narrator failed to report that large delegations of monarchs spend the winter months in Bolinas and other sheltered nooks along Pacific's shores; also, while relating the fact that the butterflies were from Alaska, Vancouver, Washington state, Oregon and northern California, he forgot to tell us that Nevada county sends a delegation, too, and that fact is important, I think.

The monarch butterflies of Nevada county gather together early in November and fly en masse to their winter playgrounds. Strange, fragile creatures of the air—strange that their tiny heads contain a directive power that leads them so far and so regularly from their homes and then as regularly leads them back again. The butterfly brain must be an infinitesimal thing in so far as size is concerned, but these winged creatures complete the cycle of their existence with a beauty of precision that fills their human observers with amazement.

Time spent in consideration of a butterfly's life may seem wasted to those of us who are so greatly enmeshed in affairs of greater import, but doesn't it afford us a glimpse of beauty and isn't it worth while in the midst of present day confusion, disillusionment and sheer ugliness, to pause as often as possible and capture a glimpse of beauty?

I Wonder if there are other actions of a monarch's mind which remotely resemble human instincts, emotional reactions for instance.

A butterfly on burnished wings
Tip tilted through the air,
It soared aloft in joyous flight
And loitered here and there;
While on the ground a crawling thing,
Hissed with a spiteful squirm,
"I knew that brazen creature once,
She used to be a worm."

communities will have museu to offer the traveling public.

The Nevada County Histori Museum has already been esta lished in Nevada City, and summer it is hoped to ha branches in Grass Valley, Tru kee and North San Juan. Ea community will display rel within its area. The Nevada C Museum will display the hist of Placer Mining, resulting in t picturesque town built on t banks of Deer Creek. Modes early transportation will also displayed.

The Grass Valley Muse will handle a Quartz Mining hibit. It was this type of mini which brought the town i prominence.

Edward Tinloy has be named Sub-Chairman in rest ing the early day Chinese J House. With the assistance of City Council, the Grass Val Chamber of Commerce, t Chinese-American residents the county, and the Histori Society, it is planned to have attractive Chinese Joss House, which Chinese relics may be d played by next summer.

The Truckee Museum, un the direction of William Por will specialize in the early r grations into the county, India and Trappers of that region, a the Central Pacific railroad.

North San Juan, one of most beautiful towns during Hydraulic Mining Days, have a most colorful display events along the Ridge. It specialize in Hydraulic Mini Mrs. William Cunningham been appointed sub-chairm and has generously offered brick building for the North S Juan Museum.

Gifts to the museum are be readily recieved by Chairm Elmer Stevens, and Doris Fol President of the Society.

Bob Tamblyn, has presen three deeds for the Harley Le Jr. home on Nursery Street. was first the home of Willi Maltman, and sold in 1856 William Kent. Other transf were made in 1864 and 1872.

Claude Clark, formerly North Bloomfield, has presen some interesting relics from t section. One is the monthly count of the Ridge Teleph Co., dated January 1st., 1881. names of people living at t time in Bloomfield and amount charged for toll listed. A satchel used by McKillican of McKillican Mobley's Store, in transport important documents to Nev City was also presented by Clark.

Other gifts were a para used by Mrs. Dudley as a yo girl; an old fashioned cra found in the merchandise of old store when it was purcha by Mr. Clark, and a handm candlestick washed out by a h draulic monitor at Relief Hill

Mrs. Mary Warnecke has p sented some old mining cl notices and stock reports; and Mrs. R. R. Coyne added the rare stamp collection, M James Bradbury, of N. San J has given some newspaper c pings, including a report of Stage holdup on the Bloomf road in 1879, in which Ban Cummings was killed, and H. P. Davis presented the seum with some excellent tures of the Champion Mine, the Edwards' Crossing.

The Library Group is anxious to have a Sub-Chairman and committee to answer letters of inquiry. Eastern people are writing for information on gold rush relatives. Their deaths, burial locations, mines in which they worked etc. This committee would have to copy obituary notices from the old newspapers on file at the city libraries, refer to the early Nevada County Directories and answer letters of inquiry.

Mrs. Olive Kallenberger, Library head, will assist a Sub-Chairman in obtaining the necessary material and information. One does not need to be a member of the Historical Society to take charge of this very necessary work, and anyone wishing to be of servece during the centennial years is urged to phone Mrs. Kallenberger, Nevada City 520-J.

MORE ABOUT INDIAN UPRISINGS

TOWN OF KEARNEY,
Bear River, Yuba County Calif.

WHEREAS, numerous depredations and murders have been committed upon the persons and property of the American citizens in this vicinity by native Indians, belnoging to the tribes of the undersigned chiefs; and whereas, it became the duty of the undersigned Thomas J. Green, Major General of the First Division of California Militia, to pursue and punish said depredators and murderers; Now, therefore,, in the absence of higher authority, I, Thomas J. Green, Major-General, as aforesaid, on behalf of the people of California and the Government of the United States, on one part, and the head chiefs, Weima, and Buckler, and Sub-Chief Poolel, on the other part, representing fully and completely their several tribes, do enter into the following solemn treaty of peace and friendship, to wit:

Article 1. Henceforth and forever the American citizns and the several tribes aforementioned shall live in peace and friendship.

Article 2. Should any Indian belonging to either of the beforementioned tribes commit any murder, robbery or other offence against the persons or property of the American citizens, the offender or offenders shall be promptly delivered up to the proper authorities for punishment.

Article 3. Should any American citizen or foreigner commit any wrong upon the persons or property of the beforementioned tribes, they shall be punished therefore as the law directs;

Article 4. To prevent any hostile feelings arising between the whites and Indians, as well as to prevent the friendly Indians from being mistaken for those unfriendly, it is hereby stipulated that the people of the beforementioned tribes shall not carry arms while in the settlement of the whites.

Article 5. To cultivate warmer friendship and acquaintance between the white people and the Indians, the latter are guaranteed the free use of the gold mines, and the full value of their labor in working the same, without charge or hindrance; and any contract made between the Indians and whites, before competent witnesses, shall be recoverable before any Court of competent jurisdiction.

Article 6. The Indian prisoners shall be delivered up with the signing of this treaty

Article 7. The Government of the United States shall have six months from this date to confirm, amend, or annul the treaty; and should said Government of the United States confirm the same, it is hereby stipulated that each of the beforementioned tribes shall receive a semi-annual annuity of one thousand dollars to be paid to them respectively for the term of ten years from the date thereof.

In witness whereof, the undersigned parties beforementioned have signed, sealed and delivered this treaty, each to the other, in the presence of Captain Nicolaus Allgeier, Captain Chas. H. Hoyt, Colonel James Bell, J. S. Christy, Counselor at Law, Edwin P. Linck, J. B. Fairchild, Joseph Foster, subscribing witness.

dispensable travelling garment. Ah, there were his fine linen handkerchiefs, fresh from the Bush Street laundry. For years Mr. Bolton had patronized this excellent Chinese laundryman; always his linens came home snowy-white. He thought, sometimes, that the laundry mark, "FXO7" was really a synonym for perfection.

Downstairs, his landlady bustled out to bid him goodbye. Mr. Bolton smiled, bowed, lifted his hat. Women adored his charming courtesy. The slight look of fragility also aroused their maternal instincts.

"Now, you take good care of yourself, Mr. Bolton," the landlady admonished him. "Them gold mines ain't a goin to do you a mite o' good if you go an' get gallopin' consumption."

Mr. Bolton smilingly agreed. Outside, he bought a newspaper, lifted his cane at a passing hack, and was bowled off to his favorite restaurant. The police often dined here. Occasionally, Mr. Bolton was lucky enough to find a vacant seat at their table. He never presumed upon their conversation. He was content to listen. Mr. Bolton was suite interested in crime; and sometimes the police talked shop.

Today they discussed Black Bart. Mr. Bolton was familiar with the career of this notorious bandit. Who wasn't! During the eight years of his successful career, Black Bart had held up twenty-seven stagecoaches, eluding every effort to capture him. Everybody knew that he must be a man of uncanny strength and endurance; he travelled on foot, and had been known to rob two coaches sixty miles apart in less than twenty-four hours, in rough mountain territory. He invariably wore a long linen duster; he was never vicious, and was averse to taking human life.

THE ELECTRONIC BRAIN

Now it's the electric brain. A high speed, super-computing machine has been developed that will solve a problem in 10 minutes that would take Professor Einstein three years, working night and day.

The United States bureau of standards announces the "machine with a built-in intelligence." It also has an electronic memory, which threatens even John Kieran's.

We are in for push-button thinking and switch control intelligence. The streamlines, eight-speed, 24 cylinder, high compression brain with floating power may be said to have arrived.

A man with a problem just steps on a starter and—presto—the answer pops out like gum from a slot machine.

Instead of concentration and study, all that is required is a change of oil now and then and a few spare parts.

Deep thinking becomes a factory problem, a matter of gear shifts and battery voltage. It makes possible the goal man seems to have been after for the last 15 years: 100 per cent results with no use of the individual brain whatever.

Everywhere of late we have seen the evidence on all levels of life that heavy thinking, concentration on a serious problem and the use of the head except for purposes of photography were considered un-American and old hat.

The human brain has become widely regarded as unnecessary except for the purpose of following the movies, keeping track of scandals, forming opinions on crooners and answering "Napoleon" to quiz program questions such as "Who invented the tea bag?"

"He doesn't know much" hasn't been taken as a reflection on anybody in years.

The electric brain may make things much worse. How are young people going to realize the importance of going to school if everything they learn can be extracted from a piece of machinery?

And that electronic memory! Can you imagine the neighbors and old friends having one of those around?

VANISHING AMERICANISMS

"Let's have the whole crowd over for a beefsteak dinner."

"I'll tell the world I'm no Communist."

"I admit I don't know all the answers."

"Take a dozen eggs and beat well."

SONG FOR ERIC JOHNSTON
Against the Communists am I
With all my heart and soul . . .
My heart is starred; my soul it has
A good supporting [illegible]

Both do well in the movies, as
A most expensive pair;
No other heart and soul get such
Big billing 'way out there.

Oh Say, Can You See!

America is becoming the Land of the Fleeced and the Home of the Long Enduring. And if the cost of living gets much higher we will be singing, "Oh, say, can you see by the pawn's early blight!"

The motto "Never give a sucker an even break" has become current in many places. The cry, "Take him again, he hasn't the will to resist," rings over hill and dale.

The Forgotten Man has reached a point where he is sorry he was remembered.

He is now surrounded by the Forgotten Chop, the Forgotten Loaf of Bread, the Forgotten Bargain, the Forgotten Square Deal, the Forgotten Shirt, the Forgotten Glass of Beer, the Forgotten Roof and the Forgotten Kindly Look.

The cradlemaker nicks him as much as used to be asked for a five-passenger sedan, the casketmaker rubs it in at the grand finale, and in between he is taken for a mark for stickups, extortionists, sandbaggers, pickpockets and cold-blooded experts in vacuum cleaning.

The funniest query of the times is, "Do you think we will get serious inflation?"

So many Hollywood figures are now in contempt that their arraignment is bound to take longer than even a double feature.

Eddie Cantor is among the Hollywood stars denouncing the inquiry into Communist infiltration. He has never seen any effort by the politburo to give a Red slant to "If you like Susie like I like Susie."

Bughouse Fables: Once upon a time a Hollywood picture didn't portray a newspaper man as a drunk.
